LIPPER LEADERS RATING (OVERALL)

Total Return	Consistent Return	Preservation	Lipper Leaders Key
5	5	5	Lowest	1
			Highest	5

The Lipper Leaders Ratings System is a set of tools that guide investors and their advisors to select funds that suit individual investment styles and goals. It uses investors-centred criteria to deliver a simple, clear description of a fund's success in meeting certain goals, such as preserving capital or building wealth through consistent strong returns.

Lipper Leader ratings are derived from highly sophisticated formulas that analyse funds against clearly defined criteria. Each fund is ranked against its peers based on the metric used (such as Total Return or Expense), and then the top 20% of funds in that ranking receive the Lipper Leader designation. Lipper Leaders measures are not predictive of future performance, but they do provide context and perspective for making knowledgeable fund investment decisions.

FUND MANAGER'S COMMENTARY

Global equities remained volatile and gained marginally in April, with US equities underperforming amid the ongoing tariff war between the US and China. The consumer staples, utilities, and industrials sectors boosted market performance, while energy and health care sectors lagged. Both the European Central Bank (ECB) and the Reserve Bank of India (RBI) cut repo rate by 25 basis points (bps). The Federal Reserve (the Fed) officials expected inflation to increase this year due to high tariffs but acknowledged uncertainty about the extent and duration of these effects, as noted in the Federal Open Market Committee meeting minutes. The Fed still anticipates a reduction in interest rates by around 50 bps this year. Annual inflation rates in the US and Europe slowed to 2.4% and 2.2% respectively, driven by a decline in energy prices. European equities outperformed global equities, driven by signs of a potential de-escalation in the US-China trade war. Conversely, Chinese equities, especially real estate stocks, lagged global markets due to the withholding of additional stimulus. Indian stocks performed well, bolstered by a weaker USD and strong earnings from banking stocks. Emerging markets (EM) outperformed developed markets (DM), with India and Brazil leading the outperformance while China gave negative returns. Turkish equities declined due to a decrease in consumer confidence and spending intentions, coupled with elevated interest rates. Conversely, Thailand experienced a significant increase in April, propelled by record-high export levels in March amidst subdued inflation.

Chinese equities fell by 4.3% in April, initially impacted by Trump's reciprocal tariff announcements. Despite a rebound supported by state-backed buying, the absence of additional policy support and uncertainty surrounding U.S.-China trade talks led the equities to end in negative territory. The Chinese yuan also depreciated during the month. The People's Bank of China (PBoC) plans to inject 600 billion yuan through medium-term lending facility loans to maintain ample liquidity in the banking system and to shield the economy from the U.S. tariffs' impact. China's one-year loan prime rate (LPR) and five-year LPR remained unchanged at 3.1% and 3.6%, respectively, for the sixth consecutive month. China's NBS Manufacturing PMI fell to 49.0 from 50.5 amid a decline in foreign sales, driven by higher U.S. tariffs.

Indian equities rose by 4.8% in April, largely driven by Trump's 90-day tariff pause announcement and robust quarterly results from large private banks. The Indian Rupee appreciated against the USD due to India's resilient growth outlook and moderating inflation. The HSBC India Flash Manufacturing PMI rose to 58.4 in April, while the HSBC India Flash Services PMI increased to 59.1 fueled by a significant surge in new business and robust export orders. The Reserve Bank of India (RBI) slashed its repo rate by 25 basis points to 6% to support economic growth.
